Nanjemoy Route Evening Loop Timing Revised

Beginning June 1, 2008, the Nanjemoy route's two last loops are revised as follows:

STOP at 5:30 P.M. the Nanjemoy route will run a complete Service Run B loop rather than provide "by request" service.

STOP there will be no 6:30 P.M. departure from La Plata.

STOP at 7:30 P.M., a final departure from the La Plata transfer point will provide all return service to Nanjemoy "by request".

These changes are being made in order to address a timing problem that developed as a result of too many passengers opting for the 5:30 P.M. by request service, which continually resulted in the 6:30 P.M. fixed service running as much as 45 minutes behind schedule.

The Benefits

The changes will accomplish several critical goals without substantially altering current service:

1] Passengers will still have two opportunities to return to the Nanjemoy area in the evening.

2] Passengers using the 7:30 "by request" service will be able to time their arrival to the La Plata transfer point without experiencing a delay or layover.

The revised schedule is on the back of this newsletter. New standard format schedules are being printed and will be available on the vehicles soon.

For additional information or to receive schedule planning assistance, contact VanGO customer service at 301-934-0111.

Passengers request larger buses for La Plata route

A common refrain from passengers completing the customer service survey is that larger capacity vehicles are needed on the La Plata A route. Larger buses have been planned for some time and are in line to be ordered, pending MTA order coordination. VanGO will provide a status update as soon as additional information is available.
