April is “Fair Housing Month”

In an effort to improve the quality of life in Charles County, especially in the area of clean, affordable housing, the Charles County Commissioners have designated April as “Fair Housing Month.”

“As we grow as a County, it's important that we (as Commissioners), continue to pursue our goal of providing decent and affordable housing to everyone,” said Commissioner President Wayne Cooper. “We have new residents moving to the County each week, and it's the responsibility that single adults and families have places to live that are within their income.” added Cooper. Pictured with the Commissioners are Gwen Smith, Aaron Taylor, and Jim Smith of the Housing Program, Department of Community Services, Charles County Government.

Photo taken by George Clarkson, Press Secretary, Charles County Government.

-30-

April 15, 2008