

SIDE PAYMENT

It is illegal for a landlord to request side payments or additional payments from the tenant above the amount calculated and approved by the Housing Authority. Owners and families may execute agreements for services (i.e. association dues, condo fees), appliances (other than for range and refrigerator) and other items outside those which are provided under the lease if the agreement is in writing and approved by the HA. These payments are not to be construed as illegal side payments.